

FORMER GERMAN CROWN PRINCE ESCAPES FROM HOLLAND

NEWS REACHES CONFERENCE AT PARIS THAT FREDERICK WILLIAM IS BACK IN GERMANY

Considerable Stir is Created When Fact Becomes Known; Significant in View of Other Incidents.

WASHINGTON HEARS KAISER WILL TRY GETAWAY

By Associated Press
PARIS, June 26.—Frederick William Hohenzollern, the former German crown prince, has escaped from Holland and made his way into Germany. News of the escape of the former crown prince caused a considerable stir in peace conference circles.

While it is not felt that he is a figure around which the reactionary and monarchists would gather enthusiastically, nevertheless his act is regarded as an event of considerable significance in view of other German recalcitrancy.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Confidential reports that the former German crown prince and also probably the former emperor would attempt to re-enter Germany after the signing of the peace treaty were received by government officials here. This became known here today after an Associated Press dispatch telling of the escape of the crown prince had been received from Paris.

The former German crown prince was interned by the Dutch government on the island of Wieringen and if he preserved his status as a soldier the opinion of international law authorities here is that the Netherlands government may be held accountable by the associated governments for his escape.

It was explained that the rules of war and neutrality require the government of any nation that affords asylum to a fugitive soldier to intern him for the period of the war and that in this instance that period technically had not elapsed. Officials said one effect of the escape undoubtedly would be to cause the authorities of Holland to renew precautions to prevent the escape of the former emperor.

BERLIN SCENE OF DISORDER AND FIGHTING

Mobs Attack Soldiers in Isolated Sections and Rob People.

RIOTING IN MANY PLACES

Passengers on Cars Are Held up and Pockets Rifled. While Women Are Relieved of Jewelry; Quiet This Morning; Further Trouble Feared.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, June 26.—Disorders are increasing in Berlin, the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Amsterdam reports. Many streets there are barricaded and there have been serious engagements between government troops and mobs.

BERLIN, June 26.—The streets of Berlin were scenes of rioting and plundering last night and this morning. Incited by speeches in Alexander Platz mobs attacked and robbed pedestrians and maltreated isolated soldiers. Troops sent to Alexander Platz were fired upon by crowds in the streets and from the roofs of buildings. They finally succeeded in clearing the streets.
Elsewhere in the city bands of marauders robbed shops and attacked citizens, rifling their pockets. The neighborhood of the Steintor railroad station, the Hochschule and the Badstrasse was notably disorderly. Street cars were held up while rioters searched the passengers' pockets and stole women's jewelry. Here also soldiers were beaten and shots were fired from roofs and windows and the soldiers returned the fire.
After daylight this morning the city was quiet but at noon the police appeared for troops as the crowds were gathering.

LONDON, June 26.—Representatives of industrial and military power in Hamburg and are sitting in the town hall, according to advices from Berlin, quoting newspaper advices received there. General von Litzowbeck has been ordered to Hamburg with strong forces to restore order.

ORE MINES SITE CHOSEN FOR CAMP FOR BOY SCOUTS

Arrangement is For Summer Only But May Be Permanent One.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

Outing Will Probably Last Four Weeks; County Day to be Observed to Arouse Interest on Part of Public in the Boy Scout Movement.

The Boy Scouts of Connellsville will go into camp this summer on the site selected recently at Ore Mines, near Hemminger Mills, several miles east of this city. No date has yet been set for the camp but it will be some time after the soldiers home-coming celebration.

At a meeting of the Local Council of scouts, held in the Baltimore and Ohio Y. M. C. A. last night, it was determined to hold the camp at Hemminger Mills to find out whether or not it is a suitable location for a permanent scout camp.
There was considerable discussion on the location of a permanent site, and rather than construct buildings on some site which would later prove inadequate or unsuitable, the council thought it best to try out the Hemminger Mills site.

"The camp will be in charge of Scout Commissioner R. C. Witt. It will likely continue for four weeks. There are about 200 scouts in this city and quite a number are expected to be in the camp at all times.

A committee composed of O. R. Carpenter, R. C. Witt, P. T. Kameron, W. D. McGinnis, W. F. Underwood and J. W. McClaren, was appointed to make all the necessary arrangements.
J. W. McClaren, C. A. Crowley and G. R. Carpenter were appointed trustees of the Local Council to care for all scout property and equipment.

After the summer encampment is ended, sufficient of the equipment will be turned over to the colored troop of this city if it so wishes, in order to allow that group the advantage of a vacation in the woods.

O. R. Carpenter suggested that something be done to stir up more interest in scouting throughout Fayette county. His idea is to have sufficient boys in the movement to organize 50 or 60 troops in Fayette county and then secure the services of a paid executive. He proposed that Connellsville start the movement and urge other communities to take it up.

A resolution was passed to have one day at the scout camp this summer known as "county day" on which occasion men from the various communities would be invited to be present, together with a national scout field worker, when an endeavor would be made to stir up interest in scouting.
It was mentioned at the meeting that Dawson is getting a scout movement under way and would likely have a troop organized within a very short time.

STEEL INDUSTRY IS ON UPWARD TREND, FARRELL DECLARES

Gain of 25 Per Cent in Past Three Weeks, Says U. S. Steel Head.

PROSPERITY IS AT HAND

Visit of Officials of Steel Corporation and Frick Company is For Inspection Only; Pleased With Conditions Throughout the Region.

The steel industry has improved 25 per cent the last three weeks, said James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, on his visit to the coke region yesterday in company with other officials of the steel corporation. An era of unprecedented prosperity is about to be ushered in, in the opinion of President Farrell. Commenting on the increased steel production Mr. Farrell remarked: "You know what that will mean to the great coke region upon which we have to depend most largely for our coke."

Mr. Farrell denied his visit to the region had any importance other than an inspection of the properties of the H. C. Frick Coke company, which is a subsidiary of the steel corporation. He had no statement to make relative to the possible early development of the recently acquired coal acreage in the Greene county field.

President Farrell emphasized the hopeful situation in the steel industry which has been reflected particularly during the past few days by announcements of the blowing in of many blast furnaces which is the first step in the industrial transition from war-time to peace-time production.

"We have been well pleased with conditions as we have found them," said Mr. Farrell, in discussing the inspection trip.

The visit of Mr. Farrell to the Fayette county region is the first in several years and in itself is considered an important indication of the plans of the big corporation for the early return of its companies to a normal peace time production, and better.

From Uniontown the party went to Ronco where the plant there was inspected and proceeded to the river properties of the company, New York and Pittsburgh steel men, together with officials of the H. C. Frick Coke company's Scottsdale offices were in the party which included Mr. Farrell, H. C. Williams, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, John Reis, W. H. Cingerman, William H. Whigham, G. C. Clyde, F. F. Macquard, E. C. Brown, L. H. Burned, Thomas A. Dawson and W. H. Glasgow.

The party proceeded to Pittsburgh following the inspection of the properties in the Brownsville territory.

At home the theory is that the boys got hold of some dynamite caps and that it was the caps that exploded.

LEADING CITIZENS OF THE CITY APPEAR IN CAST FOR COUNTY HISTORICAL PAGEANT

NEW SCHOOL FOR FAYETTE DISTRICT, DUNBAR TOWNSHIP

DUNBAR, June 26.—Fayette district, Dunbar township, will get a new school building this year. The increase in the school population caused by the erection of new dwellings by citizens and the occupation of the houses in the Fayette addition built by the Pennsylvania Wire Glass company on the Stevens tract make a new and larger school building imperative. For several years the old Fayette building has been inadequate but the erection of a suitable building has been postponed by the school board until it could be told about how many new dwellings were to be erected. The new building will likely be a four-room structure, and instead of being located on the side of the mountain, off the public road, a lot has been secured on the Fayette road. Plans for the school have already been drawn by the architect, and work on the structure is expected to begin soon. Work will be secured for the building from the Pennsylvania Wire Glass company main. The building will be modern in all respects.

Whether the building will be brick or frame as not been given out, but a brick structure, in the end, is considered cheapest to say nothing of appearance, and it is likely, but bricks that will some repairs the Furnace school building can be made to bridge over a few years more, so that building will be repaired and a number of improvements made thereon.

Noah Made It Famous: Wants U. S. to Make It Free

WASHINGTON, June 26.—"Now add to the list of states that have asked the United States to be their mandator—Nakhichevan."

"Never heard of Nakhichevan?" says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. Well first consult Genesis VIII-4 for the district in question lies at the foot of Mount Ararat and the town of Nakhichevan contains the alleged graveyard of Noah. The builder of the ark local tradition affirms, went down into the land that now seeks the wing of the United States and died of thirst in the parched plain after his ark had broken up on the snowy peak of the world's most famous mountain.

The bulletin continues with a description of the region by Maynard Owen Williams, who was the last American to carry on relief work in Armenia to which land he went from Nakhichevan just before Christmas, 1917. Quoting Mr. Williams, the bulletin says:

"The Nakhichevan district inhabited by Tartars, when peace comes will be bounded on the north by the Armenian district of Erivan. It is bounded on the south by the Arax river which is the subject of many an Armenian song, and which here forms the boundary between Asiatic Russia and Persia. In the hills to the north east is Shusha a strong Armenian center where the Armenians held out against a circle of foes in the summer of 1918."

"When Russia's power in the Caucasus declined and the golds flowed back from the former Russian front in Turkey through the Nakhichevan district, the traditional hatred between the Armenians of the Erivan district and the Mohammedan Tartars broke out. This closed the carriage road to Tabriz and later closed the railway. At great risk several members of the American Committee for Armenia and Syrian Relief with headquarters at Erivan went to Tabriz and brought back several million roubles in a train that was so crowded with retreating Russian soldiers that one of the committee members uprooted with hundreds of thousands of roubles, was forced to sleep on the roof of the car in a temperature near zero. Within a week the railway service was stopped by Armenian Tartar fighting."

"The uprising of the Nakhichevan Tartars was ill timed. German propagandists had placarded the district with posters exhorting these Tartars who are related to the Turks and are of the same religion, to arise against the Armenians whom the retreating Russians had left to their own devices. This they did. But the Armenians had spent the winter in raising an army to take over the former Russian front and about 25,000 of these volunteers were assembled in Erivan."

"The Tartars advanced along the railway (Tiflis to Tabriz) and met serious resistance first at Kamariyu, 80 miles from the city of Nakhichevan. There was some spirited fighting and the Tartars were soon defeated and at least one well was filled with their dead bodies. Women and children were not touched by the Armenians. By circling between Kamariyu and Mount Ararat along the wide plain of the Arax the Tartars reached the junction of Uikhaulu and burned the railway station there, also cutting the Indo European telegraph line which joins Tiflis to the rest of the world. This necessitated the sending of Vice Consul Deolittle to Teheran in order to establish connection with Washington at a time when all Americans were being forced to leave Tiflis."

"When I crossed the Igdir plain, where Armenians are starving today, these much persecuted people were having their tin cans and the smoke from a score of burning Tartar villages could be seen. Tartars with arms were allowed to live if they surrendered their guns and women and children were not touched but their villages were looted and burned by the Armenians. This was in March 1919. All the Tartars retreated to the Nakhichevan district where they formed a majority of the population. There they have remained. Hatred between them and the Armenians is strong but due to the greater strength of the Armenians there are no atrocities.

"The whole problem is made difficult by the diversity of the population in the mountain villages the Kurds are most numerous. A strong hand will be necessary to control these several tribes. The Kurds have been forced to be butchers by the Turks who gave them guns as their only tools and who kept agriculture and education from them. Their condition is as bad as that of the Armenians and when I crossed the Turko-Russian boundary I saw scores of Kurds with only one garment and barefoot at an altitude of seven thousand feet in March."

HOW PRICES OF COAL ROSE DURING SIX YEARS INCLUDING WAR PERIOD

In United States Price Held Closer to Pre-War Level Than Elsewhere in the World.

The rise in coal prices throughout the world from 1913 to 1918 is graphically set forth in striking charts and tabulations made public this week by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. Nowhere in the world, these tabulations show, has the price of coal remained closer to its pre-war level at the end of 1918 than in the United States. In other words while coal prices have risen to new high records in this country the figures show that the proportionate rise is not nearly so great as elsewhere a solitary possible exception being Great Britain.

The figures show in the case of Great Britain that bituminous coal has increased on an average from $3.80 to $8.30 per ton at Manchester during the six-year period and from $2.76 to $5.19 at Cardiff. In the case of Germany, from $5.72 to $5.55 per ton at Berlin from the first quarter of 1913 to the last quarter of 1915. In the case of Russia from $2.35 to $5.41 from the first quarter of 1913 to the last quarter of 1915 and in the case of Italy from $7.04 to $45.74 per ton at Genoa.

An unusual situation is shown in the returns covering comparisons at Genoa the price of coal during the fourth quarter of 1916 being given at $45.74 a ton while the price of coke is given at $37.64 at the same time.

In the case of Japan, the rise in coal was from $4.65 per ton in the first quarter of 1913 to $17.78 per ton in the third quarter of 1918 at Yokohama. The last period for which figures were available, and at Copenhagen, Denmark the increase was from $5.66 per ton during the first quarter of 1913 to $42.33 in the third quarter of 1918.

The price of Connellsville coke ranged from $3.03 in the first quarter of 1913 to $4.88 in the last quarter of 1915. Pittsburgh coal during the six years ranged from $1.27 to $4.02.

Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of J. C. FLETCHER as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of J. C. FLETCHER.

THE BLINDING TRAIL—A story of the big outdoors in the region of a lumber camp is an interesting attraction today. The snow covered pine trees and the winter landscape generally give an attractive atmosphere to the production which is maintained from the beginning to the end. Monroe Salisbury is cast in the leading role, that of Jim McKenzie a rugged woodsman and foreman of the camp. The hero meets with an accident while tobogganing by risking his own life to save that of the owner's daughter. He loses his eyesight temporarily and wins the love of the girl. He regains his eyesight marries her and then loses it again on the day their child is born. Later he regains his sight a second time after a hard to trace fight with the villain who has used his wife away. The story has numerous high moments and contains considerable heart interest. Mr. Salisbury is supported by Mary Pickford the idol of the screen will be presented in the near future in Daddy Long Legs.

THE PARAMOUNT

PHIL-TOP-SHORT—A world feature starring Evelyn Greaves the popular screen actress is being presented today. The picture is not alone a delightful one but is an absorbing and entrancing production and you are certain to enjoy it thoroughly.

It is the story of a modern girl—that modern in her independence in her love for the night and her dislike for the old-fashioned conventions which decreed that her sex must not wear men's clothing. Of course Phil does not wear men's clothing all the time but when she works in her garden she does overall and this is the cause of much agitation on the part of an old maid of her town and the old maid's brother. The picture is mighty pleasing. It is just the sort of an entertainment that every member of the family will enjoy. It is jammed with smiles and with big thrills. Hugh Thompson leading man for Miss Greaves, has been seen in the support of some of the most famous screen stars. An interesting weekly is also being shown Friday and Saturday Pauline Frederick will appear in One Week of Life a Goldwyn production. Monday Emma Wehlen will be starred in The Amateur Adventures.

COCCHI TRIAL HALTED

Court in Cruger Case to Examine Testimony in Trial of Wife.

By Associated Press.

BOLOGNA, June 25.—The trial of Alfred Cocchi charged with the murder of Ruth Cruger in New York in 1917, has been interrupted for an indefinite period to enable the court to examine the papers in the trial of Cocchi's wife.

Cocchi told of having sawed the body of Miss Cruger so that he might hide it. Then he broke down crying in a broken voice. "I took the body and tried to conceal it in the cellar but the door was not large enough and I sawed the body in two. The girl was dead when this was done."

Dispatches received Tuesday from Bologna stated that Alfred Cocchi had declared that his wife was guilty of the murder of Ruth Cruger, a New York girl who was slain in Cocchi's bicycle repair shop in New York city in 1917.

SERVICE MEN AND THE HOME-COMING CELEBRATION.

While the Home-Coming Celebration committee plans to send formal invitations to all service men in the county requesting their presence upon this great occasion, particularly to participate in the parade on military day, no wearer of Uncle Sam's uniform should hesitate to come even if he fails to receive an invitation. It will be practically impossible to reach every one, but failure to do so should not be construed as an oversight.

Connellsville wants every man who has returned from duty overseas or from the training camps where they were impatiently waiting the order to sail for France, to be here guest during the celebration. This is intended as Fayette county's welcome home and as a means of showing appreciation of the splendid services rendered by her loyal sons. Naturally it is hoped and very earnestly expected that all returned soldiers, sailors and marines will grace the occasion by their presence and take part in those features designed to honor them
for the part they had in the World War.

Of all the men Fayette county sent to the war, and of the hundreds who have come back, none have returned as an organization to receive a public welcome home. The larger cities of the state have had the privilege of witnessing thousands of overseas veterans in parade but the smaller towns and communities in which many of these boys live and are personally known by the citizens, have not had opportunity to confer similar honors upon them. Fayette county wishes to do so and has planned the Home-Coming Celebration for that purpose. Its supreme object and purpose will fail
if the boys themselves do not turn out to a man, wearing the uniforms in which they came back home, in order that a deserving and proper tribute of respect may be paid to them.

The parades in the cities were held under altogether different conditions.
The men had just recently arrived from a long ocean voyage. They were tired of ceremonies and display and anxious to get back to home and kindred. Long parades over hot, dusty streets were exhausting and little pleasure was derived therefrom. A home town parade will be very much different. The boys have had a good rest. They will not be burdened with "heavies" or other accoutrements and the ceremony will lack stiffness and formality. The route of the parade is not so long that passing over it will exhaust any marcher. The parade will be witnessed by friends and neighbors
instead of strangers and a royal welcome will everywhere await those who take part in it.

The celebration committee and the public at large will be very much disappointed if Military Day is not one of the biggest days of the occasion.
It will be if the service men have a proper appreciation, as we believe they will have, of the importance of the part they will have in making this feature a success.

We can begin to appreciate and better understand the thrill of the French people when considering the character of some of the claims for indemnity
that are being filed with the claims department of the army. A case in point is the claim of Sophie Guillaume who wanted 20 francs for her cat,
"filled with mice and rats," which she alleges formed the choice de resistance
at the Christmas dinner of some soldiers, although a careful investigation revealed the fact that the cat came back, just as it is the habit of cats to do.

Perhaps the Germans are holding off signing until the winner at Toledo is proclaimed.

Some persons will be in doubt whether it requires more courage to be wedded in a lion's den or to mate with a man or woman foolish enough to suggest or consent to having the nuptial knot tied in such a place.

Germany is still advertising for some expert treaty signers.

When the boys of a church honor their pastor on his birthday with a well filled purse as they did when Rev.
Watters of Dunbar celebrated the passing of another milestone, it is to be taken as proof that he is a boy's man as well as somewhat of a boy.

And Foch is still keeping the watch
on the Rhine.

There was less coke smoke yesterday than was needed to give the region its proper prosperity background and setting but its absence enabled the visiting United States Steel Corporation officials a splendid opportunity to view the natural beauties of historic and picturesque Fayette.

Connellsville will be all dressed up during the Home-Coming Celebration and everybody will know where to go.

With increases ranging from $1,500 to $2,000 per year the forces of the state ought to be able to keep the wolf from the door without the necessity of issuing restraining orders.

The Great Restorer
At Work in France

We have been hearing so much of the wonderful and almost unmount-able difficulties of reconstruction in the devastated area of France that what follows may be a surprise, says
a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger.
The facts are from official sources.
The authority is C. D. Snow, commercial attaché to the American embassy
at Paris.

A French regulation requires manufacturers and merchants restoring their businesses or reviving industries to give at least two weeks' notice to the minister of labor so all former employees may be informed and workers throughout France may be advised. Here are paragraphs from Mr.
Snow's report:

"On May 14 notice was given of partial resumption of work in glass works at Rheims, and spinning mills at Lille, Vervins and Fourmies and a printing establishment at Bethune. In the Journal Officiel for May 23 the Enclus Spinning & Weaving company at Moyennotier (Vosges) was mentioned as having declared on May 15 that its plant had been restored and would soon be in operation. The Roubaix & Odessa Oil company, under date of May 17, had prepared for partial resumption of business at Roubaix and was in touch with its former personnel. May 18, Salvin, Meysia, Jentil et Cie, clothiers and outfitters at Lille, declared their workshop had been restored and they had taken back as many of their former workpeople
as had applied. Under date of May 19
the Lille Cotton company at Lille announced that it had restored to partial operation its two cotton-spinning plants at Lille.

"Possibly two-thirds of the land included in the devastated regions is being easily put in cultivation again.
Agricultural reconstruction on this class of land has been rapid, and already thousands of acres of good land that it had looked difficult, but not impossible, to reclaim have been reclaimed.

"Another branch of reconstruction
which has been carried forward rapidly, through the free use of labor troops, and the assistance of German prisoners, has been the repair of the roads. Hundreds of miles of roads that had fallen into a bad state from heavy traffic, or from shell fire, and from lack of repair work during the war have been put in good condition
since the armistice. American steam rollers, tractors, stone crushers, etc., have played an important part in road building.

That is far different from some of the stories we have been receiving.
It must not be imagined that much has been done toward restoration. The task is gigantic. Only a start has been made. But it has been a good start and the results are in evidence. That is the cheering thing.

What is more, the soil of France,
the farms supposed to have been ruined by shell fire, apparently were not in such bad condition as they appeared when examined in the dreary November and December days just after the armistice.

Nature is a great restorer. It is at work in France.

And men are getting back to work
in field, in factory, in shop and forge.
So, too, it is or soon will be in all the lands.

AN ARMY

Of Agents Engaged in Finding Jobs
for Men Discharged From the Army.

For every twelve men discharged
every month from the army and navy
of the United States, the government has put one man in the field to secure jobs for them.

An army of 24,000 trained men has been mobilized and placed at the disposal of Colonel Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war, to aid him in obtaining employment for discharged soldiers and sailors. This army comprises all the field agents
of the Department of Agriculture, who are to tour every district in the country in an effort to connect the man and the job.

An additional army of many thousands for this work has been gathered, who have been sent all over the country canvassing the large employers and securing their cooperation for the work at hand.

WILLIAM OSWALD'S DISCOVERY.

When William Oswald Edgingham was born his parents said:
There never was a child before with such a noble head.
With pardonable modesty they raved about his worth
And called their precious little tot the cutest babe on earth.

As William Oswald older grew his folks more loudly raved.
Before his face they praised to all the way that he behaved.
They told the clever things he did, repeated all he said
Until at last they had completely turned the youngsters' heads.

Because he heard his parents brag
about him day and night.
He got to thinking that he was the brightest of the bright.
He didn't seem to notice when they gave him his degree
That ninety other fellows shared his brilliant company.

At last into the world he went in search of gold and fame.
And was shocked to find that no one seemed to recognize his claim;
It troubled him and grieved him
It left him much depressed,
To discover no one thought him any better than the rest.

Now he knows that there are others
who can do what he can do:
That some know everything he knows,
With something added too.
And he tells his foolish parents when they boast of him at night,
That the world is full of people who are marvelously bright.

ECONOMY
SALES

Last week we were advertising Inventory
Sales. An Inventory Sale means an Economy
Sale, and an Economy Sale means a general closing out of odds and ends, lines which have not been moving out as expected, lines which we are excessively heavy on. Economy sales further mean a reduction, so prepare to visit our stores and take advantage of our economy sales. You will find in women's, misses', and children's wear, distinctive styles and you will find prices that we defy any competition to match. There are some odds and ends in women's misses', and children's dresses, shirt waists, skirts, underwear, hosiery, and other furnishings that are being closed out at reduced prices, although they are among the choicest values in our stores. There are lines which we are overloaded on in staple and fancy dry goods; ribbons of choice colors and popular widths; there are handkerchiefs, undergarments,
and other lines that we take this cut-price method to move out. There are some very choice goods in women's, misses' and children's wear that are not moving as expected and we take this cut-Price method also of moving them out. Remember that they are not old goods, not shopworn stuff that you see in clearance sales around town stores; high class merchandise at reduced prices
—that's why we call it an Economy Sale. During the balance of this month these bargains will be offered.

ENTERTAINMENT IS FREE DURING MILL TOWN CELEBRATION

Free Boxing Bouts to be Staged, Also Baseball Games.

TRIBUTE TO THE SOLDIER DEAD

At High Noon Bells Will be Told and Whistles Blown for Nine Young Men Who Gave up Their Lives in the Service; Reformed Convention.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, June 26.—Free ball games and free boxing bouts will be the main attractions at Scottsdale to the sporting public on July Fourth, the day of the home-coming celebration. Most of the boxers who will be in Scottsdale on July Fourth are slated for Connelville all of the following week. There will be one match between Tony Phillips and John Bennett. K. O. Circus and Eddie Carver will also put on a bout. The Charcoal Twins will stage a bout. Gilbert Cove, back from the Army service, and Joe Catterly back from the Navy, both local boys, are staged for another. The stand is to be built four feet off the ground and will be placed in the position so that all wishing to see these bouts can see them.

The baseball diamond is being gone over and the bleachers and grandstand are being put in shape to accommodate the people. The baseball team will be made up of such well-known returned soldiers as Tannehill and Guest.

At 12 o'clock a short time will be observed in honor of the nine who gave up their lives in the service. Church bells will be tolled and the fire whistle blown.

Six men from the state constabulary will be on duty all day July Fourth.

The parade promises to be the largest in the history of the town, practically every business man will have a float in the parade. Several orders have accepted the invitation to march in bodies.

All persons are asked to decorate their residences and business places for the day. Prizes will be given for the best decorated home and for the best decorated business place.

Three concessions have been granted to local men to sell sandwiches, ice cream, etc., on the grounds.

The committees, yesterday were busy putting streamers on all cars coming to town and on all cars going out of town.

Every family in Scottsdale is preparing to pack baskets and go and stay all day at the park.

The finance committee is meeting with great success.

TWO PAIRS TWINS MADE BIG LOT O' WORK FOR MOTHER

They Caused Mrs. David Harris to be All Run Down Till Nerv-Worth Came to the Rescue.

A royal friend of overworked women is this famous family tonic. One of the very strongest proofs of its wonderful merits is the following statement made to the Nerv-Worth druggist at New Castle, Pa.:

New Castle Pharmacy—My wife has suffered from severe nervous trouble for four years. Could not sleep and get any rest. Was all run down from looking after our twin boys, four years old, and another pair of twins, nine months old. She doctor'd a great deal, but got no relief. Through a friend she was advised to take Nerv-Worth. I purchased a bottle and she at once began to improve. And now, after taking the second bottle, she has lost all her nervousness and is rapidly gaining in weight and strength. We surely recommend Nerv-Worth, as it has been a blessing to us.

STEEL COST INQUIRY

Not Being Made at Instance of Railroad Administration, Says Hines.

Reports that the Federal Trade Commission had begun a new inquiry into steel manufacturing costs with a view to determining exactly the manufacturing cost of steel rails and other railroad equipment involved in past and future contracts, given denial by Director General Hines of the Railroad Administration. The director general said that such an inquiry had not been undertaken at the request of the Railroad Administration. So far as the commission's investigation and the prices which it is expected to disclose affect the placement of additional contracts by the Railroad Administration for steel rails and other equipment, the director general said it would be negligible in that the Railroad Administration will make equipment purchases only when necessary.

Additional equipment contracts, while not expected to be placed within the near future, probably will be awarded within the next few months which stocks now on hand are exhausted. Small purchases are being made by the purchasing agents of the railroads, he said, to meet the current equipment needs of the individual railroad systems.

CONCLUSION OF PEACE WILL STIMULATE THE ACTIVITY IN STEEL

Many Construction Projects Will Now be Promptly Launched; Bookings Have Increased in Some Lines.

Special to The Weekly Courier: NEW YORK, June 25—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

The opinion is general in the steel trade that the signing of the peace treaty will immediately have a stimulating effect upon demand for steel. It is held that a great many construction projects have been held in abeyance awaiting the formal signing of peace terms and that these projects will now be launched promptly. Even before the armistice was signed it was the common judgment that many undertakings would be deferred during the period of peace negotiations. Already a fair volume of construction work is in progress although the demand for steel in the past few weeks has been chiefly in connection with ordinary everyday requirements.

Bookings of steel orders have increased somewhat in the past week, particularly in sheets but, weld pipe and merchant bars. Plates are still extremely sluggish while structural shapes are far from active. The rail mills have very little tonnage on books but additional orders are about to be placed by the Railroad Administration for 300,000 tons of rails. It is understood there will be no protest against the prices quoted as there was in the case of recent orders for 200,000 tons. Beyond the pending 300,000 tons, no additional rail business for domestic roads is expected for this season.

Steel mill operations now average about 65 per cent of capacity, against a low point about the middle of May of little if any above 50 per cent and that rate may pass as the low record for several years.

Following the extreme demands made by the Amalgamated Association in connection with the steel and tin mill scales an agreement was reached last Monday night whereby sheet mill wages are advanced an average of $6 per cent and tin mill wages an average of 26 per cent.

The pig iron markets are somewhat less active but the market is steady as the furnaces in blast are comfortably filled for the next few months. Much of the coke needed in the second half of the year has been placed under contract but hardly anything has been done in Lake Superior iron ore.

INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL FOR EPIDEMIC NEEDS FAVORED IN HOUSE

Amendment to Prohibition Bill Reported by Judiciary Committee; Medicine Must be "Unfit"

By Associated Press: WASHINGTON, June 26—Under an amendment to the prohibition enforcement bill approved today by the House Judiciary committee a state would be permitted to withdraw tax free from government warehouses alcohol produced at industrial plants and needed by health authorities in time of epidemic.

In offering the amendment Representative Goodkykoontz, Republican, of West Virginia called attention to the situation last year during the Spanish influenza epidemic and said in many cases the physicians had used whiskey as the best and most available remedy.

Another amendment approved by the committee provided that patent medicines containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol must be unfit for use for beverage purposes.

LITTLE CHANGE

In the Employment Situation in U. S., Says Government Bureau.

Reports received by the United States Employment Service for the week ending June 14 from 10 cities throughout the United States show a surplus of labor amounting to 241,046, as compared with a surplus of 227,777 reported by 82 cities last week, which does not indicate any material change.

Of the 100 cities from which reports have been received, 48 report the above surplus, while 19 cities report a shortage of labor amounting to 12,765 which compares with a shortage last week of 9,616 reported by 15 cities. This would also indicate unchanged conditions. This week 37 cities report an equality compared with 12 cities last week and 48 the week before. Of the 38 states reporting, 21 report a surplus of labor, nine report an equality and ten report the above shortage.

Steel Ingot Production.

Steel ingot production in May aggregated 1,929,024 tons as reported to the American Iron & Steel Institute by 30 companies which in 1913 produced 84.08 per cent of the total steel ingot output for that year. Taking the 30 companies as representative of the industry as a whole the May output of ingots was at the monthly rate of 2,295,000 tons for the entire industry or at an annual rate of 27,540,000 tons for the whole country.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits over.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork. By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest, excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hand, want of confidence and even cowardliness are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support. There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind, vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery, to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance, to be not only a man but a man now, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-ferrin every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime, and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before, if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-ferrin is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, untimely men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

And, sure enough, when we were barely fifty feet away from the shore, and there seemed nothing for it but to run dead ahead, low down through the floating mangrove branches we caught sight of a narrow gleam starting inland, and in another moment or two our decks were swept with foliage as the "Fleming" rushed forward like a bird to cover through an opening in the bushes, barely twice her beam, and there before us, snaking through the brush, was a lane of water which

"By the way, Calypso, where is it?" he asked unexpectedly, to the sudden confusion of both of us. "Isn't it time you revealed your mysterious Aladdin's cave?"

"At the word 'cave' the submerged rose in Calypso's cheeks almost came to the surface of this beautiful foliage. 'Cave!' she countered sharply, 'who said it was a cave?'"

"It was merely a figure of speech, which—if I may say so, my dear—might apply with equal fitness, say, to a silk stocking."

And Calypso laughed through another tide of rose-color. "No, dad, not that, either. Never mind where it is. It is perfectly safe. I assure you."

"But are you sure, my dear? Wouldn't it be safer, after all, here in the house? How can you be certain that no one but yourself will accidentally discover it?"

"I am absolutely certain that no one will," she answered, with an emphasis on the last three words which sent a thrill through me, for I knew that it was meant for me. "Of course, dad," she added, "if you insist—you shall have it. But seriously I think it is safer where it is, and if I were to fetch it, how can I be sure that no one else would see it?"

"Which, of course, understood—'To-bias,' for instance, would see me going—and follow me?"

"To be sure—to be sure," said the "king." "What do you think, Friend Ulysses?"

"I think it more than likely that she might be followed," I answered, "and I quite agree with Miss Calypso. I certainly wouldn't advise her to visit her treasure just now—with the woods probably full of eyes. In fact," I added, smiling frankly at her, "I could scarcely answer for myself even—for I confess that she has filled me with an overpowering curiosity."

"So be it then," said the "king," "and now to consider what our friend here, graphically speaks of as those eyes in the woods."

The "king" then made a determined descent into the practical. The woods, most probably, were full of eyes. In plain prose, we were almost certainly being watched. Unless—unless, indeed, my bogus departure for Nassau had fooled Tobias—as we had hoped. But, even so, with that lure of Calypso's doubtless eyes before him, it was too probable that he would not leave the neighborhood without some further investigation—"an investigation," the "king" explained, "which might well take the form of a midnight raid; murdered in our beds, and so forth."

That being so, being in fact almost a certainty—the "king" spoke as though he would be a much disappointed man otherwise—we must look to our garrison. After all, besides ourselves, we had but Samson and Erebus and their dark brethren of doubtful courage, while Tobias probably had command of a round dozen of doughty desperadoes. On the whole, perhaps, it might be best to avail ourselves of the crew of the "Fleming" under cover of the dark," he repeated with a smile.

While we had been talking Samson had long since been on his way with the word to Sweeney to look out for Webster, and as he had been admonished to hurry back it was scarcely noon when he returned, bringing in exchange a verbal message from Sweeney:

"The poached party," ran the message as delivered by Samson, "had left the harbor in his sleep that morning."

CHAPTER VI.
An Old Enemy.
Charlie Webster's laconic note was naturally our chief topic over breakfast. "Tobias escaped—just heard he is on your island. Watch out. Will follow in a day or two." The "king" read it out, when I handed him the note across the table.

"Your friend writes like a true man of action," he added, "like Caesar, and also the electric telegraph. We must send word to Sweeney to be on the lookout for him. I will send Samson the Redoubtable with a message to him this morning. Meanwhile we will smoke and think."

Then for the next hour the "king" thought aloud; while Calypso and I sat and listened, occasionally throwing in a parenthesis of comment or suggestion. It was evident we all agreed that Calypso had been right. It had been Tobias and none other whose evil eye had sent her so breathless back to me, waiting in the shadow of the woods; and it was the same evil eye that had fallen vulture-like on her golden doubloon exposed on Sweeney's counter.

It was clear that there were such coins on the island in somebody's possession. Then, when he had watched Calypso on her way home—and without any doubt been the spectator of our meeting at the edge of the wood though we had been unable to catch sight of him—there would of course be a suspicion in his mind that my quest might at least be an approaching success, and that his ancestral militia might be almost in my hands. That, there, might be some other treasure, on the island, with which he knew his grandfather had any success would not occur to him. It would be likely to trouble him if it did. My presence was enough to prove that the treasure was his—for was it not his treasure that I was after? Logic formidable! How was he to know that all this treasure so far discovered was that modest hoard mentioned as I heard, in the garden—the present whereabouts of which was known only to Calypso. The "king" had interrupted his self at this point of argument.

ing. Yes, sir!"

"Ha! ha!" laughed he "king," turning to me. "So two can play at this game, says Henry P. Tobias, Jr. But if we haven't fooled him let's make sure that he hasn't fooled us. We'll bring up your crew all the same—what do you think?"

"Under cover of the dark," I assented.

The "king's" instructions to me were that I was not to show my nose outside the house. I must regard myself as a prisoner with the entire freedom of his study—a large, airy room on the second floor, well furnished with all manner of books, old prints, strange ashes in glass cases, rods, guns, pipe racks, curiosities of every kind from various parts of the world.

And then I came upon a photograph hanging over the writing desk—a tall, Spanish-looking young woman of remarkable beauty. It needed but one glance to realize that here was Calypso's mother, and as was natural I stood a long time scanning the countenance that was so like the face which, from my first sight of it, had seemed the loveliest in the world. This was a flower that had been the mother of a flower. It was a face more primitive in its beauty, a little less touched with age than the one I loved, but the same fearless natural nobility was in it, and the figure had the same wild grace of pose, the same like strength of carriage.

Two or three days went by, but as yet there was no news of either Charlie Webster or Tobias. Nothing further had been heard of the latter in the settlement, and a careful patrolling of the neighborhood revealed no signs of him. Either his sailing away was a bona fide performance or he was lying low in some other part of the island—which of course would not be a difficult thing for him to do, as most of it was wilderness—and as, also, there were one or two coves on the deserted northern side where he could easily hide his time. Between that coast and us, however, lay some ten miles of scrub and mangrove swamps, and it was manifestly out of the question to patrol them too. There was nothing to do but watch and wait.

At last there came a message from Charlie Webster, another of his Caesarian notes. "Sorry—delays—few days longer. Any news?"

That seemed to decide the "king." "What do you say, Ulysses," he said, "if we begin digging tomorrow? There are ten of us—with as many guns, four revolvers and plenty of machetes—not counting Calypso, who is an excellent shot herself."

QUITTING BUSINESS SALE

Granulated
Sugar,
4 lbs. for 30c

None Given to Children

Being in business here for the past 12 years, operating the most successful store in town, I have decided to quit. I closed up arrangements with an out of town concern to take over the lease, but no stock or fixtures is included in the deal. To make this sale more interesting I moved my store from Mt. Pleasant here with a large line of Ladies' and Gents' Clothing, Furnishings and Shoes, which we will offer at this sale.

Our various lines are complete and prices will be cut beyond imagination. So don't fail to come and tell your friends about it. This is not an ordinary "Sale" for a stimulator or a money-making scheme—this is positively a bona fide Quitting Business Sale.

Men's Cool-Cloth and Palm Beach Suits

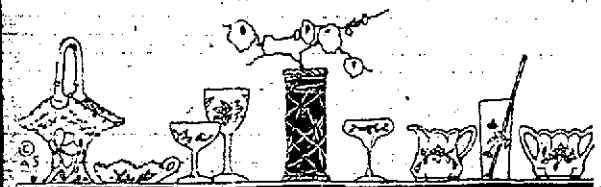

It's hard to understand why some men continue to suffer with the heat when Palm Beach Suits offer such inexpensive relief.

With the mere mention of "Palm Beach" some men shy for they imagine we're trying to dress them all up in white. That's not so at all—we have them in both light and dark colors and besides affording great comfort for the ensuing summer months, their moderate cost makes them a convenient saving.

PRICES 10 TO 20 DOLLARS.

Announcing a Complete China and Housewares Department

PRESENT CONGRESS SETS NEW RECORD FOR LEGISLATION

Unprecedented Amount Has Been Accomplished in Special Session.

OVER A BILLION SAVED

To Taxpayers During First Twenty-four Days by a Wise Reduction in the Amount of the Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The following review of the unprecedented legislative record of the present Congress was made by Representative Fess, of Ohio, in a speech before the House on Flag Day:

"Gentlemen, I want to call attention to a progress of legislation that I think is unparalleled in the proceedings of Congress. This happens to be the anniversary of our national emblem and probably we will adjourn pretty soon. I therefore rise at this time to make this observation that the country may know just what is taking place. I want to call attention to the fact that we are now considering the eighth appropriation bill of the special session of Congress. Seven of these appropriation bills are through the House and now over at the other end of the Capitol awaiting consideration, which will be given without delay.

"The urgent deficiency, at first bill to receive final action after we convened, passed the House on the 22d of May. The House went in session on the 19th of May. That means that the organization and all the preliminary golden rule of an emergency measure.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit. The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain of the daily work and accumulated acids and crystalline look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritation which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism. Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble after the cause at once get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL HARMON OIL Capsules, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not suit you money will be refunded. Be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

ure immediately taken up for consideration, and on the fifth day this bill was brought in and passed, to relieve a situation in which over 700,000 families were denied allowances due to the failure to call Congress in session immediately after the 4th of March.

"The Indian appropriation bill was passed in the House four days after the final vote on the deficiency bill. The Agricultural bill was passed on the 4th of June. Another deficiency bill was passed on the 23rd of May, just 10 days after Congress convened; the District of Columbia appropriation bill on the 7th of June; the railroad deficiency bill, carrying $750,000,000, on the 10th day of June; the Army bill, carrying a fraction over $300,000,000, but yesterday, and the naval bill we are half way through now, and may pass it before the day ends. The passage of these bills is not the important feature that I wanted to call to the attention of the country. Four of these appropriation bills—the deficiency, Army, railroad and Navy—carry appropriations by at least $1,000,000,000 less than was carried by the same bills that passed at the last session, when our Democratic friends had control.

"It must also be remembered that all of those bills were considered after the armistice was signed, and passed the House. Of these four bills—and I will be specific, if the members would like to have it—one, the urgent deficiency bill, is $500,000,000 less; the Army bill was reduced heavily from the original estimates by the committee, and then the House further reduced it nearly $100,000,000, making a cut of about $500,000,000 on the Army bill from that of last session. The Navy is making a cut of at least $140,000,000. The railway bill was cut $450,000,000, on the belief that such an amount was all that was needed. I want to be perfectly fair about that. We may have to make another appropriation for the railway administration, because it is possible that the $750,000,000 will not be sufficient in view of the tremendous drain under government operation, but it was thought wise, and I think justifiably so, not to vote more than appeared upon the face of the estimates. Therefore, it was cut, from $1,200,000,000 to $750,000,000, a saving of $450,000,000.

"These four savings will amount to $1,095,000,000. That is a saving in 24 days of legislation that will amount to $46,000,000 a day. This would not have been saved in legislation if the bills had been passed at the close of the last session as we passed them in the House. And while I am not holding a brief for anybody for legislation, anyone can see that in the exigencies that followed since we adjourned on March 4 there has been opportunity for this amount of saving."
